Ajax Lite Versus Ajax Deluxe

February 16th, 2006 · 4 Comments · HumansAndTech, Links, SoftwareDev ·Edit

Harry Fuecks suggests there are two types of Ajax apps: HTML++ and Client/SOA. This is something I've noticed too, and it cuts right across the Ajax architecture, impacting on the user-interface, the physical architecture (browser-server separation) and the abilities of the developers involved.

Fat Clients

The "Ajax App" pattern addresses this as a decision. It's the root pattern for the entire Ajax Patterns language (Ajax App is not yet on the AjaxPatterns wiki). As you might know, each pattern has a "Decisions" section, identifying the decisions you'll have to make if you go with the pattern. In the case of Ajax App, a big Welcome to TiddlyWiki, a free MicroContent WikiWikiWeb created by JeremyRuston and a busy Community of independent developers. It's written in HTML, CSS and JavaScript to run on any modern browser without needing any ServerSide logic. It allows anyone to create personal SelfContained hypertext documents that can be posted to a WebServer, sent by email or kept on a USB thumb drive to make a WikiOnAStick. It also makes a great GuerillaWiki. This is revision 2.0.11 of TiddlyWiki, and is published under an OpenSourceLicense.

Landscape

Landscape comprises the visible features of an area of land, including the physical elements of landforms, water bodies such as rivers, lakes and the sea, living elements of land cover including indigenous vegetation, human elements including land uses, buildings and structures, and transitory elements such as lighting and weather conditions.

Landscape photograph of Tolima Colombia

Combining both their physical origins and the cultural overlay of human presence, often created over millennia, landscapes reflect the living synthesis of people and place vital to local and national identity. Landscapes, their character and quality, help define the self image of a region, its sense of place that differentiates it from other regions. It is the dynamic backdrop to people's lives.

Official news on crawling and indexing sites for the Google inde

A proposal for making AJAX crawlable

Wednesday, October 07, 2009 at 10:51 AM

Webmaster level: Advanced

Today we're excited to propose a new standard for making AJAX-based websites crawlable. This will benefit webmasters and users by making content from rich and interactive AJAX-based websites universally accessible through search results on any search engine that chooses to take part. We believe that making this content available for crawling and indexing could significantly improve the web.

While AJAX-based websites are popular with users, search engines traditionally are not able to access any of the content on them. The last time we checked, almost 70% of the websites we know about use JavaScript in some form or another. Of course, most of that JavaScript is not AJAX, but the better that search engines could crawl and index AJAX, the more that developers could add richer features to their websites and still show up in search engines.

Some of the goals that we wanted to achieve with this proposal were:

- Minimal changes are required as the website grows

HTML5: The Future of History

```
history.pushState(
    {search: "rainbows"},
    "Items containing 'rainbows'",
    "/search/rainbows"

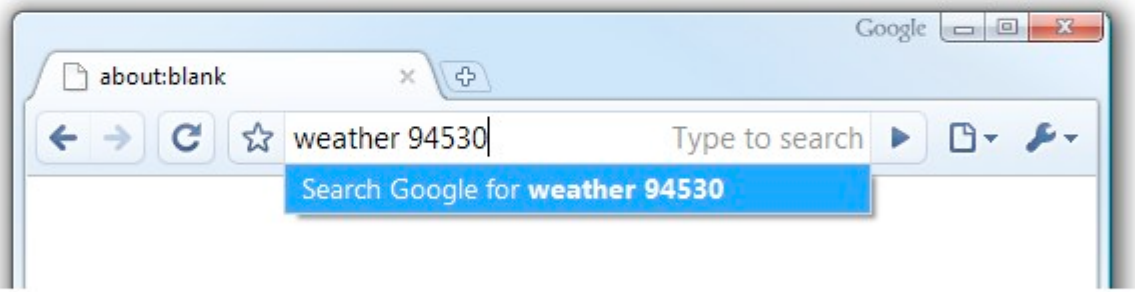
The Web Browser Address Bar is the New Command Line

Google's Chrome browser passes anything you type into the address bar that isn't an obvious URI on default search engine.



While web browsers should have some built-in smarts, they can never match the collective intelligen a worldwide search engine. For example:

weather San Francisco
CSCO time London

history.length history.back();
history.forward();
history.go(5);

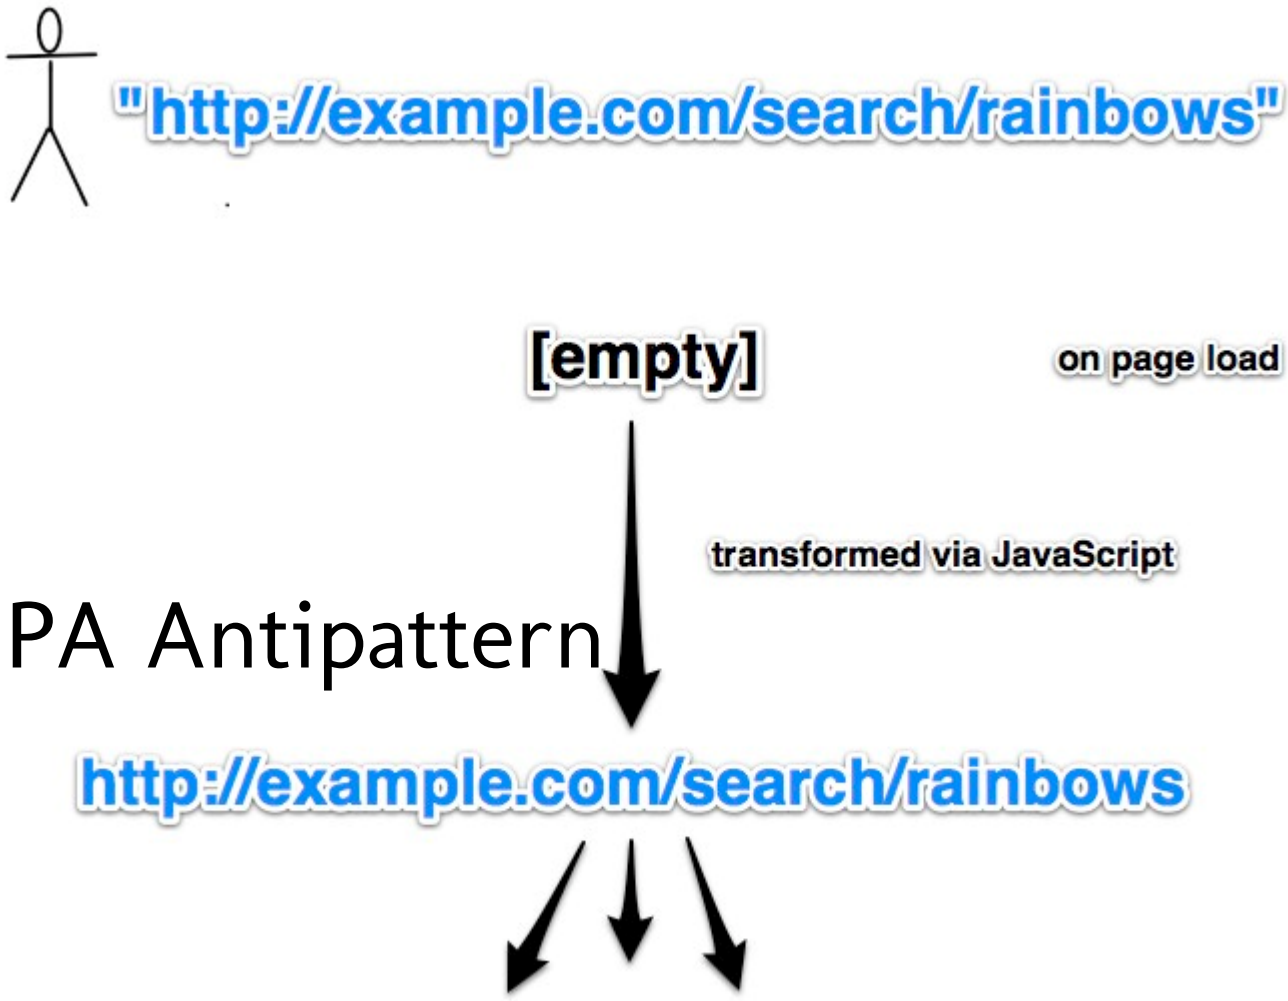
window.onpopstate() { ... } history.pushState({...}, "title", "/the/url");
history.replaceState({...}, "title", "/the/url");
```



SPA Antipattern

"http://example.com/search/rainbows"

http://example.com/search/rainbows

straight from server

SPA Pattern

Demo: http://rampage.mahemoff.com
Source: https://github.com/mahemoff/rampage

```
curl http://rampage.mahemoff.com/monsters/george

...
<body>
  <h1>Know Your Rampage</h1>

    <h2>monsters > George<
    <img src="/images/george.jpg" />
    Eats men
    Born 1986

...
```

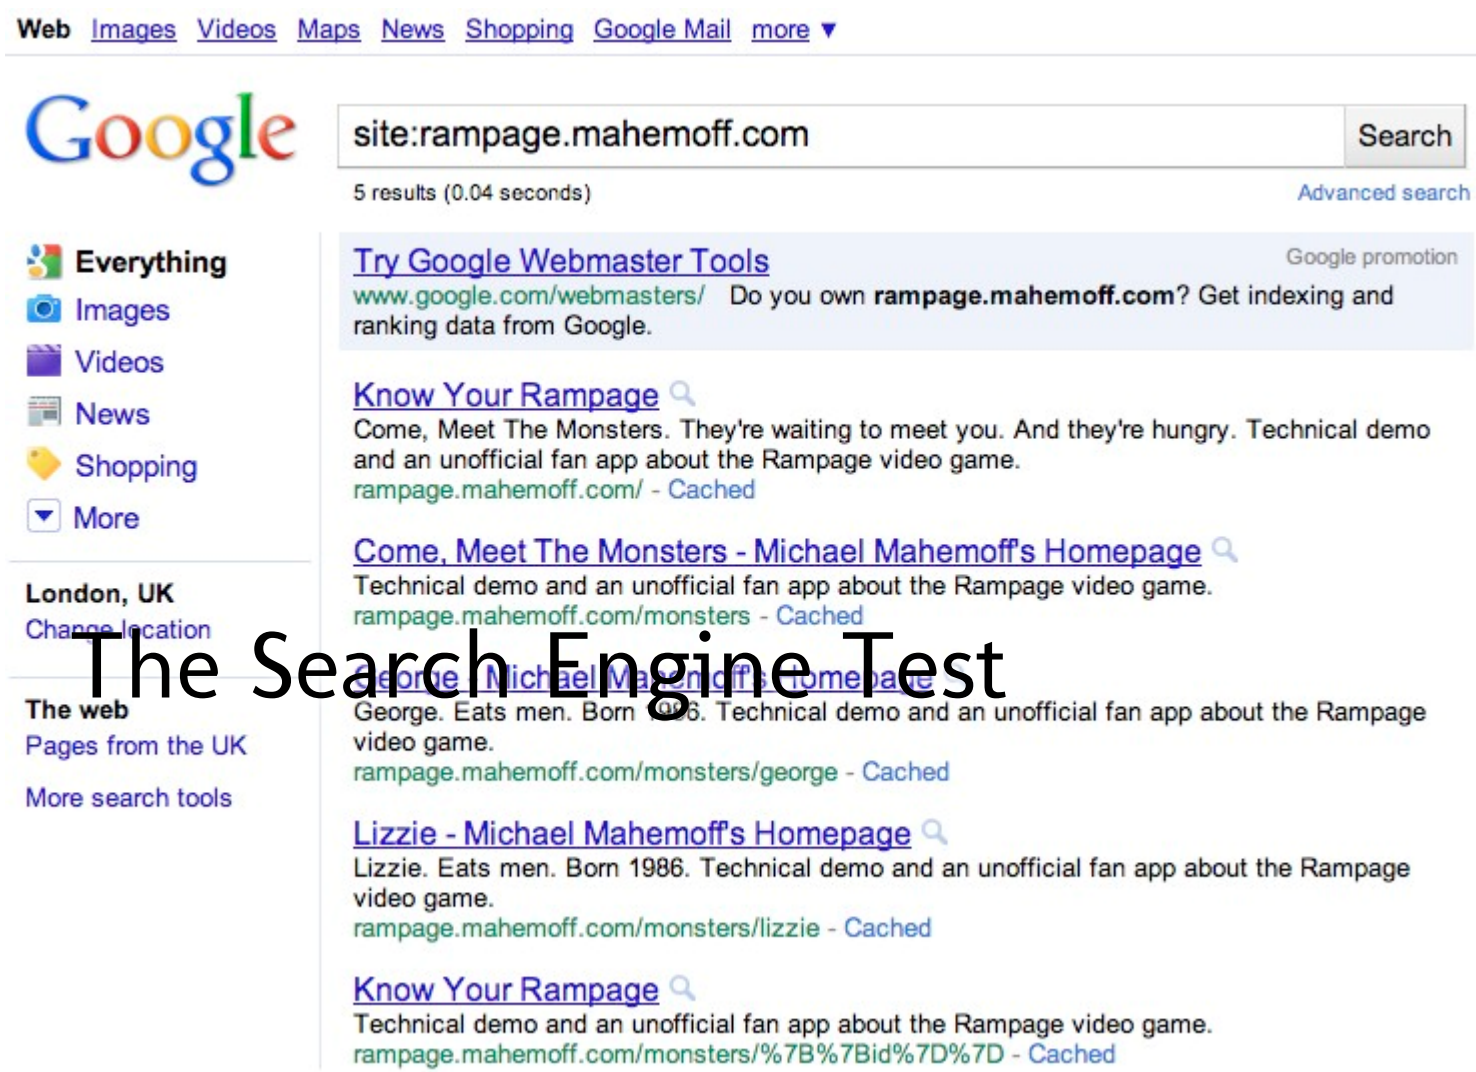

The Search Engine Test

```
/
/monsters
/monsters/lizzie /monsters/george
/monsters/ralph
```

Unique ~~State~~ Resource Identifiers!

window.onpopstate = function() { var matches;
  if (document.location.pathname=="/monsters") {
    ...
  } else if (matches = document.location.pathname.
    var monster = matches[1];
    ...
  } else { // can't handle it? Then we need to ref
    ...
  }
}
```

Know Your Rampage

monsters > George

Hijax

Eats men

```
<h2>monsters > {{name}}</h
<img src="/images/{{id}}.jpg" />
Eats {{food}}
Born {{born}}
```

```
$("a").live("click", function(ev) { history.pushState({}, title, this.href);
  onURLUpdate();
  ev.preventDefault();
});
```

Dual Side Templating: Mustache library

```
{{#monster}}
  <h2>monsters > {{name}}<
  <img src="/images/{{id}}.jpg" />
  Eats {{food}}
  Born {{born}}
{{/monster}}
```

SERVER [RUBY]

get '/monsters/:monster' do mustache :monster,
    :monster=>get_monster(params[:monster]),
    :layout=>true
end
```

BROWSER [JAVASCRIPT]

$(this).html(
  Mustache.to_html($("#monster_template").html(), {monster:monster})
).show();
```

http://rampage.mahemoff.com/monsters.json

```
[
  {"born":1986,"food":"men","name":"Lizzie","id":'
  {"born":1986,"food":"women","name":"George","id'
  {"born":1986,"food":"businessmen","name":"Ralph'
]
```

```
// popState handler
  if (document.location.pathname=="/monsters") {
    $.getJSON("/monsters.json", function(monsters)
      $("#main").fadeOut(function() {
        $(this).html(
          Mustache.to_html($("#monsters_template")
        ).show();
      });
    });
```

Embracing the SPA

1. Client: HTML5 History

2. Server: RESTful Web Services

3. Server: Full Page for every URL

4. Dual-Side Templating

5. Hijax: Standard links, augmented

6. Leverage libraries – history.js, jquery.history.js, sammy.js

7. Consider HashBang for Older Browsers
